

Where Your Talents and the Needs of the World Cross...

IAYT SYTAR  SYMPOSIUM ON YOGA THERAPY AND RESEARCH
June 5–8, 2014 • Austin, TX • Celebrating IAYT's 25th Anniversary
Keynote Speakers: Lorenzo Cohen, PhD, Judith Hanson Lasater, PhD, PT, Michael Lerner, PhD

Presented by the International Association of Yoga Therapists

IAYT Continuing Education Certificate

SYTAR 2014 offers up to 22 contact hours in continuing education credit that will be recognized by IAYT, e.g., for future CE requirement. There are no fees for this.¹

_____ Your actual hours attended

Name _____
Please print legibly

Name _____
Signature

Email _____

Phone _____

¹ Exactly how this form could be used is yet to be determined. Just save this form for your records. Please understand that IAYT does not have a continuing education requirement at this time, nor do we have a credential to grandfather anyone into yet. IAYT is focused on developing an application for schools seeking IAYT accreditation of their yoga therapy training program. Recognition of individuals will come later, although some broad general guidelines are posted on the IAYT website already. As these guidelines evolve, they will be posted on the IAYT website as well.